

Headline and Core Inflation – August 2015

Headline CPI published by the Central Agency for Public Mobilization and Statistics on September 10, 2015, increased by 0.63 percent (m/m) in August 2015 compared to an increase by 0.71 percent (m/m) in July. The annual rate decelerated to 7.88 percent in August from 8.38 percent in July, on the back of a favorable base effect from the previous year. During the month, the sharp decline in the prices of poultry largely offset the increase in the prices of vegetables. In the meantime, paid services and restaurant services increased contributing positively to the monthly outturn, reflecting the indirect and second round effect from previously implemented fiscal reform measures. Meanwhile, core CPI computed by the Central Bank of Egypt declined by 0.23 percent (m/m) in August 2015 compared to an increase of 0.30 percent (m/m) in July. The annual rate dropped to 5.61 percent in August from 6.49 percent in July, supported by a favorable base effect from the previous year. Meanwhile, the prices of paid services and other services increased by varying degrees, while retail items remained broadly unchanged.

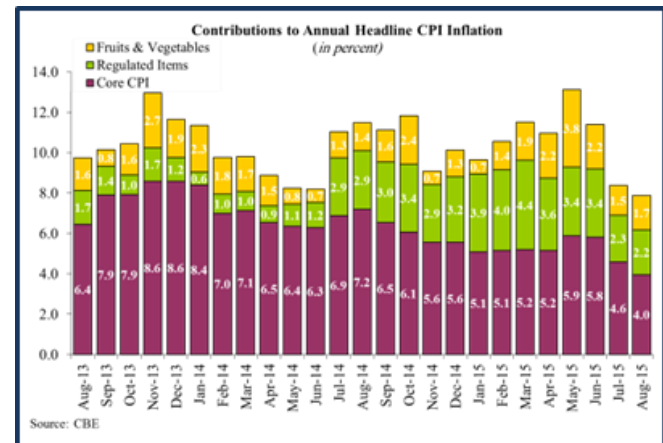

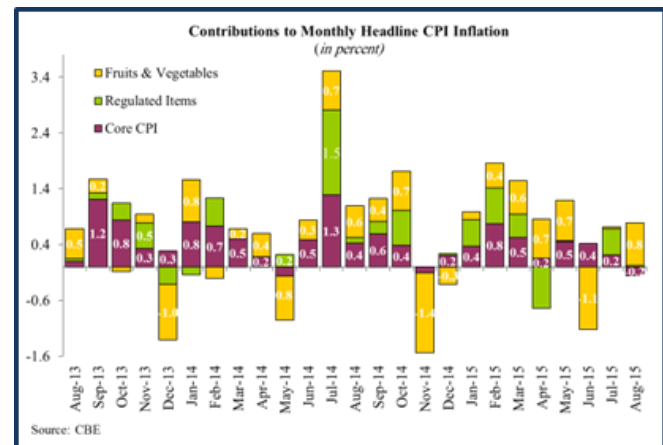

1. Headline CPI²

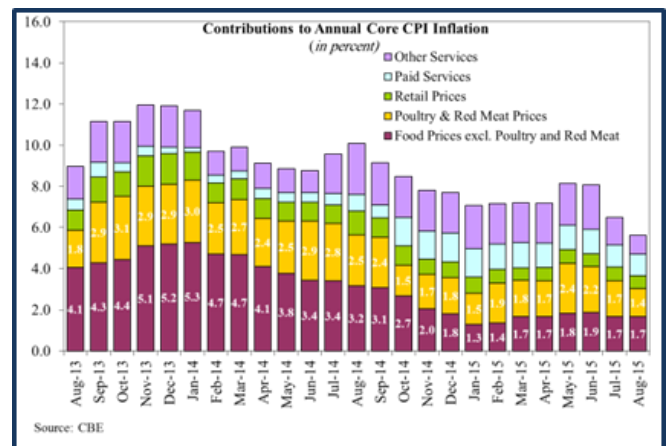

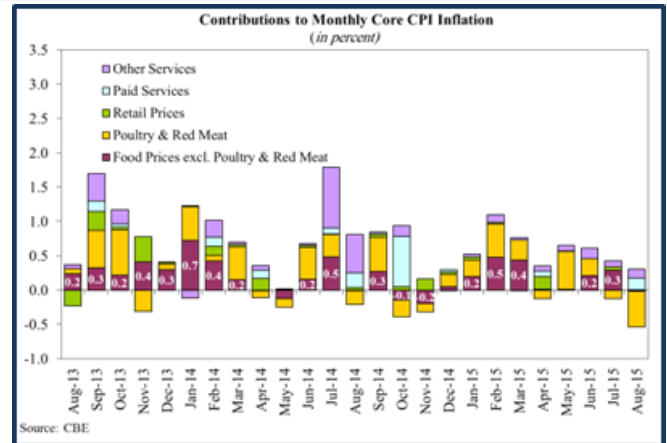

Headline CPI increased by 0.63 percent (m/m) in August 2015 compared to an increase by 0.71 percent (m/m) in July, which is below the average monthly pace of 0.82 percent recorded during the first seven months of 2015. The annual rate decelerated to 7.88 percent in August from 8.38 percent in July, on the back of the favorable base effect from the previous year.

Key Highlights

- The prices of fresh vegetables and fruits increased in August by 8.39 and 0.68 percent (m/m), respectively. Together, they contributed by 0.76 percentage points to monthly headline inflation.
- The prices of poultry declined by 10.0 percent in August, while the prices of red meat increased by 2.14 percent. Together, they contributed by negative 0.36 percentage points to monthly headline inflation.

- Moreover, the prices of eggs declined by 1.46 percent (m/m) in August to contribute by negative 0.03 percentage points to monthly headline inflation.
- Prices of cheese increased by 0.79 percent (m/m) in August, contributing by 0.02 percentage points to monthly headline inflation .
- The prices of paid services increased by 2.07 percent (m/m) in August to contribute by 0.12 percentage points to monthly headline inflation. The increase was wide spread including the prices of HH operation and domestic services, maintenance and repair the dwelling, portman and garden services and tailoring and laundry and shoe repair.
- The prices of other services increased by 0.49 percent (m/m) in August to contribute by 0.09 percentage points to monthly headline inflation, which was mainly driven by the increase in the prices of restaurant services.
- Meanwhile, the prices of retail items remained broadly unchanged.

2. Core Inflation²

Core CPI computed by the Central Bank of Egypt, declined by 0.23 percent (m/m) in August 2015 compared to 0.30 percent (m/m) in July, which is below the average monthly pace of 0.60 percent recorded during the first seven months of 2015. The annual rate dropped to 5.61 percent in August from 6.49 percent in July, supported by a favorable base effect from the previous year.

The monthly dynamics in August was mainly driven by the developments in the prices of the previously mentioned food items, which contributed by negative 0.53 percentage points to monthly core inflation. This was partly offset by the increase in the prices of paid services and other services which contributed by 0.30 percentage points to monthly core inflation.

1/ CAPMAS publishes three CPI series: (1) the CPI for urban areas which include Cairo, Alexandria, urban Lower Egypt, urban Upper Egypt, Canal cities and Frontier governorates, (2) the CPI for rural areas, and (3) the CPI for All areas. Numbers quoted in this note refer to CPI-Urban .

2/ It is important to underscore that the monthly percentage changes of both headline and core CPI between September 2009 and July 2010 do not match rates of changes presented in previous inflation notes given the replacement of the 8th CPI series by the 9th series starting from August 2009 (Full details are discussed in the Technical Appendix of the August 2010 Inflation Note).
